THE OLDS SYSTEM OF ELECTRIC LIGHTING

Makes it possible for the Farmer and all persons remote from centers to have the convenience of electricity. Don't cling to the waste, unhealthful, inefficient lighting when you can have electricity.

AND THEN ALONG WITH THE LIGHTING QUESTION COMES THAT OF

WATER SUPPLY The Pneumatic Water Supply Systems

There is no reason why the farmer and village home should not be supplied with both water and sewage and have running water as supplied to the cities here and towns the same as the city home, and this without a great expenditure of money. In fact the expense is nothing when the convenience, safety and labor saved are considered.

THE QUESTION OF FIRE PROTECTION ALONE IS OF SUFFICIENT IMPORTANCE TO WARRANT THE INSTALLATION.

I install each of these systems and will be glad to explain and give plans to any interested.

C. L. Davis, Bethel.

WHAT IS YOUR FAMILY WORTH?

If your family is worth the best you can afford in house and food and clothes, is it not worth the best reading as well? And the best reading—best for boys and girls, best for men and women—is to be found in The Youth's Companion.

Of stories alone The Companion will print nearly 300 in 1912. With all the rest of the paper thrown in, and counting the glorious long serial stories, they cost the subscriber less than a cent apiece. Moreover, you will look long before you will find stories so varied and interesting—stories of coolness in the face of peril, strange adventures with creatures of the forest and the sea, moving stories of life's obscure heroism, stories bracing with good-natured humor, quaint and curious character sketches.

Now is the time to subscribe, for you will receive free from the time your $1.75 is received all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1911, containing the opening chapters of Ralph D. Payne's great serial story of the Boxer rebellion, "The Cross and the Dragon." And there is the gift of The Companion Calendar for 1912, "On the New England Coast," lithographed in ten colors and gold. Only $1.75 now for the 55 weekly issues, but on January 1, 1912, the subscription price will be advanced to $2.00.

Little Tim—Father, I'm going to take up manual training.

Mother—Don't you know? You see what happened to him, didn't you? He followed Empress William or the Mikado of China, but he'll not have it imitated that Portuguese dago—Puck.

Why Cultivate a Taste for "Tin-Can"

That's what people have to do who choose to eat other oysters when they can get the real Sealship Oysters by coming to us. "Canned" oysters and "tinned" are all imitations of

SEALSHIP OYSTERS

Who take chances with imitations when you can get the real article? Sealship oysters are shucked and immediately packed into a tight, waterproof steel container, and shipped straight to you under seal. We place them in the porcelain enameled refrigerator. We give them to you in the crated lined paper roll.

This is the only authorized way Sealship Oysters are sold, and this is the only way you can be sure of getting genuine Sealship Oysters.

I encourage dealers to imitate the name, but they cannot imitate the manner in which Sealship Oysters are handled, which insures your getting solid oyster meats.

It is impossible for these dealers to give consumers oysters which are the peak of the finest oyster beds on the coast.

Practically all the best oyster growers and shippers are affiliated with the Sealship System in order to maintain a high standard of purity and nutrition in the oyster meats—a higher standard than the National Government even requires.

That is the reason Sealship are all and always so tempting, tasty, delicious and nutritious.

YOU'LL NEVER KNOW WHAT OYSTERS TASTE LIKE UNTIL YOU'VE TASTED SEALSHIP OYSTERS!

We sell Sealship—only SEALSHIP!

HEART THRILLING GEMS.

A PRAYER.

O God of Love! make me of love that May give to Her the life that shall not die;
I who have dared to breathe Her name
must be
First of all worthy to have walked with Thee
Let me grow sweet with Beauty till my heart
Shall always be an altar where Thee
art;
O save me from the fevered ways of men
That my breath shall not blight upon
Her when
I look into Her face and give my eyes
Rapture of dreaming on the whitt surprise—
Of Her pure virgin beauty, that the more Shall train my soul to worship and adore.
Make me as pure as night that I may rest
With dreaming fragrances on Her lilted
breast;
Make me as clean as dawn that I may be Holly wed to Her simplicity
O may my life forget all other things
Save that I tried the consecrated wings
Of Love that is a Prayer to reach the place
Where I may turn my eyes up to Her face,
Seeing all purely, what I need to see—
That of I love Her, I am loving Thee!
—Lawrence C. Hodgson in the November Scribner.

THE EVERLASTING MEMORIAL.
Up and away like the dove of the morning.
That soars from the earth to its home
in the sun,
So let me steal away, gently and lovingly,
Only remembered by what I have
done.

My name and my place and my tomb
All forgotten,
The brief race of time well and patiently run,
So let me pass away, peacefully, al-
lenly,
Only remembered by what I have
done.

Gladly away from this toll would I hasten,
Up to the crown that for me has
been won, Unthought of by man in rewards or in praises,
Only remembered by what I have
done.

Up and away, like the odors of sunset,
That ascend the twilight as evening
comes on;
So let me live—a thing felt but not noticed,
And I but remembered by what I have done.

Yes, like the fragrances that wander
in freshness,
When the dowers that it came from
are closed up and gone,
So would I be to this world's weary dwellers,
Only remembered by what I have
done.

I need not be missed, if my life has been bearing,
As the flowers and Autumn move allenly on
The bloom and the fruit and the seed
of its season,
I shall still be remembered by what I have done.

Nearly there the praise of love-written refers,
The name and the spirit given on the steat
The things we have lived for—let these
be our story;
We ourselves but remembered by
what we have done.

I need not be missed if another missed
me,
To keep down the hills which in spring I have seen;
He who glowed and seemed is not missed
by the reaper.
He is only remembered by what he has done.

Not myself, but the truth that in life
I have spoken,
Not myself, but the seed that in life
I have sown,
Shall grow on to ages—all about me
forgetful,
Save the truth I have spoken, the things I have done.

As fit me living because he my dream;
So let my name be, unblended, unknown,
Unmarked and unnamed, I shall still be remembered—

Safe Hints for Good Health.

Don't hurry your meals.
Don't eat when overtired, rest a few moments before eating. It will pay you.
Don't borrow time for work that belongs to rest or sleep.
Don't neglect the first symptoms of illness or disordered digestion.
Don't allow the bowels to become constipated, but if you are so unfortunate, don't delay taking one or two teaspoonfuls of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine or Bitters on retiring at night.
They have a record of sixty years and never fail to relieve constipation and biliousness.
All dealers have them in large bottles for thirty-five cents. Be sure to get the "L. F." kind. A generous sample mailed free on request by the "L. F."
Medicine Co., Portland Me.

TIMELY POINTERS.

A heated knife will cut hot bread
as smoothly as cold.
Never iron black cotton stockings as the heat fades them rapidly. Dry them in the shade.
To keep cheese from moulding or
from drying, wrap it in a cloth dampened with vinegar, and keep it in a covered dish. Vouched for.
When anything is spilled on the stove or milk boils over, making a suffocating smoke, sprinkle the spot with salt
and the fumes disappear.
Place in a bag of soft flannel fine
soap, too small for use. With expensive toilet soap this is an economy not to be despised.
To clean and destroy grease spots
on paper, use gasoline on the affected parts with a small cloth. It is surprising how rapidly the stains will disappear, and the paper will assume an aspect quite fresh under this treatment.
A box of powdered borax should always be kept on the sink shelf. A little added to the water in which dish towels are washed, will help much to keep them clean, and at the same time
keep one's hands soft and smooth.
Do not wash windows with soap suds.
A little alcohol and water rubbed on quickly will leave the panes bright and shining if wiped dry. Whiting, moistened with cold water, and treated in the same way, is a common cleaner.
When you dry salt for the table
stir in a teaspoon of corn starch to a quart of salt, and let it grow cold
before it is put into salt-cellars.
Then the salt will not grow moist in damp weather or cake together in lumps. This is from the head waiter of a hotel.
Feather pillows may be washed at home. Choose a bright, windy day; fill the wash tubs with hot suds and plunge the pillows, with feathers in it.
Put them through several waters, and then hang on the line in the open air.
When perfectly dry, shake well, and they will be light, fresh and sweet.

A Busy Man.
Walter Emanuel is accounted the drollest man in literary circles. Once he was calling on an editor and rose abruptly.
"I must not," he remarked, "occupy more of the time of a busy man."
"Not at all," exclaimed the editor. "I am always pleased." Placidly came the rejoinder, "I was referring to myself."—London M. A. P.

Gymnastics.
"The late William Vaughn Moody," said a Harvard instructor, "was well liked. Moody hated gossip. One of our professors had a nasty, venomous tongue, and one day this gentleman appeared in chapel with his hand tied up.
"What's the matter with him?"
some one asked.
"Oh, he's been trying to hold his tongue," said Moody.—Exchange.

The Applian Way.
The Applian way was a surprise to me. I had always pictured it as a magnificent boulevard, to correspond with the rest of Rome, but it is a rather narrow road with a stone wall along each side. I thought of the old Romans, who drove out here with their chariots, and wondered how they kept from bumping into each other.—Mary Sutley in Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Which is Which?
Above a certain cafe there are two rooms, the one being occupied by a women's "sewing circle," the other being the dining room of the cafe. Outside the cafe hangs the sign, "Grill-room Upstairs."
The German proprietor of the cafe
is still wondering why the president of the sewing circle denounces the sign as libelous and demands its re-

Owls in Asia Minor.
Perhaps Asia Minor is richer in crude and interesting fancies than any other country. When children hear an owl hooting from the cypress groves they cry, "Good news for us, good messages for you." If they catch an owl they hold it up by the beak and chant,
"Palm Sunday owl, how does your mother dance?" The meaning of the rite is lost, but the habit lingers.

Office Ornaments.
"Yes, ma'am," commented the office
factotum whom long tenure of office had made a bit complacent, "some of these here young ladies about this office does precious little work. They seems to think they're intended for office ornaments."
Then, seeing a shade cross the lady manager's face, he hastened to add, reassuringly, "Hill, ma'am, you ain't no ornament."—New York Press.

Real Havanas.
London boasts that it sells the best cigars. If you go to Berlin the to-baccoists there will tell you that the finest Havanas come to Berlin. It is the same in St. Petersburg, Vienna and Paris. The cigar dealer of Amsterdam will hand you out six for one penny and say, "It is the finest tobacco in the world." It all depends where you live.—Town and Country.

First Life Insurance Policy.
The first life insurance policy of which the details are on record resulted in a lawsuit. William Gymbona insured himself on June 15, 1883, for $250 against dying in twelve months.
He did die on May 18 of the next year, and the designated underwriters (the company of those days) contested payment on the plea that he had lived twelve months of twenty-eight days
each.

Elephants in Uganda.
"Elephants in Uganda have a peculiar aspect that I have not noticed elsewhere," writes a traveler. "They cover their bodies, as a protection against flies, with the bright red velvet dust contained in the soil. This gives them a remarkable appearance, as, instead of being a slaty gray, as to the Nile valley, their color when thus covered with dust, resembles that of a chestnut horse."

The Domesticated College Girl.
In what other country would you find a college educated woman doing all of her housework, including washing and ironing, and often turning from presiding over the washbasin to go into the parlor to help one child in the practice of a difficult passage of Beethoven or Chopin or who, after ten hours of cooking and cleaning, sits down to tutor her boys in Latin and Greek for their college preparation?
Yet this is no sporadic instance, but a type of wide representation, particularly throughout the west.—Mrs. Bushy's
"Home Life in America."

Cuba's Silent Forests.
Silence reigns in the vast forests of Cuba. Says a traveler: "No beast crashes through the undergrowth, no bird sings in the branches, no wind sighs through the misty tops. The living creatures of that world slence necessitated through the air or glide stealthily through the heavy sound deadening verdure." Cuba has created a really no song birds. They are more like gaudy creatures of the bathroom than the happy ones in nature, and you seldom see one and few hear of any sort.

PERFECTION.
He who boasts of being perfect is perfect in folly. I never saw a perfect man. Every man has his flaws and every day he finds them.
Even the sun shows spots, and the stars are darkened with clouds.
And look of some kind made in every human.—Spurgeon.

Harry Mott of Portland, who was visiting in Rumford, was killed by a car on the highway near the town of Portland, Tuesday evening. The car was driven by a man who was under the influence of alcohol and was traveling at a high rate of speed. The victim was thrown from the car and killed instantly.

On Thursday evening a fire broke out in the back of the Rumford Hotel. The fire was caused by a gas stove and spread rapidly, but was quickly extinguished by the fire department.

The Source of True Beauty.

To be beautiful is a desire common to every daughter of Eve and even the sons of men are not above the enjoyment which comes from the consciousness of being spoken of as handsome and fine looking. It Nature has been, originally in bestowing her gifts we seek by art to hide the want of beauty or purchase to create charms of form and feature where none existed. Beyond a few simple rules, such as perfect cleanliness of every part of the body, a proper observance of hygienic measures so that good health be maintained, and attention to the details of the toilet, including care of nails, teeth, hair and complexion, little can be done to improve physical features. The expert specialist may remedy defects of the nose, ear or lip and may even create dimples where none existed before. Massage, it is claimed, will fill unsightly hollows of the neck, make straggly necks plump and smooth and perform many other wonders. Washes and powders may give temporary brilliancy to the skin, but the expression of the human face, in which all true and lasting beauty is found, can be changed or modified by none of these means.

It makes no difference what nature has done for us or how much we invoke the aid of art to make us fair to look upon, if envy, malice, bad temper, discontent and the wrong and sinful thoughts they cause, are lodged in our hearts. For these enemies of grace and beauty of soul will leave their impression in the face and the ugly lines they cause will mar our looks for life. But by God's grace strive to drive out these foes of inward and outward charm and fill their places with good will, kindness and charity. Remember the fountain of beauty is the heart, and each generous thought and act refreshes and regenerates every feature, even as a fountain of water calls into life and verdure the grass scorched by the sun's fierce rays. There is no truer beauty like the wish to scatter joy and happiness around to those about you and this joy and happiness will never be exhausted for "Good, the more communicated the more abundant grows." A truly charitable heart is reflected in the face and its charms do not increase through the years. Have you not observed how really handsome some old men and women are and how sternly repel you be their other qualities. Could you know their life history you would not wonder at this difference of appearance. The evil passions and the thoughts and acts you do to them have left their features branded by the mark of sin, while the charitable and of beauty have been left as the good and virtuous. This is not fortune and it is a blessing earned out in us in this life. The old saw so often quoted by our mothers "Practice is that pretty does" had a foundation in fact and the principle is applicable to the foundation of all real beauty.

A man went to the store to select some goods for a dress as a present to his wife. He passed the fat lady behind the counter no little trouble, but she finally persuaded him to decide upon a certain piece of goods. "Now, I don't exactly know how much I want," said the man. "Well," interposed the fat saleswoman, "let's see. Now, I should need about—"

Bravery and Poverty.
To be able to look cheerfully and hopefully through clouds of poverty and distress is an accomplishment bestowed upon every true and brave woman, and no matter how poor or humble her home may be, the magic power of smiles can brighten its shadows and lighten its cares. Upon the troubled mind of a feeling husband a wife's smile falls like a sunbeam on a flower, and how much more beautiful it makes the face that wears it than a frown? When a wife and mother, forgetting sorrows and hardships, smiles away her tears there is a loveliness in the act that speaks to a man's heart more eloquently than words.—Springfield Union.

In the Line of Fire.
There lived and preached for many years in Rhode Island Elder George Champlin, a colored man, possessed of much common sense, knowledge of his brethren's virtues and failings and considerable wit. He had many devoted admirers among his own people, but some of them felt that his sermons were apt to be a little too personal and pointed. One gentleman was asked to remonstrate with him and essayed to do so. "Slater Lou Campton," said the older firmly when she had made her plea, "when I am preaching I shoot right at the devil, and it's only when somebody gets between me and the mark he's liable to be hurt."—Youth's Companion.

Origin of Patent.
Patents (from patent, I the open) originated with the so called nobility of France. Let their superiority to other folks should be in doubt, the nobles put out titles of nobility, so that the fact that they were better than the rest of the people might be open to all the world. It was in connection with the printing of books that the first real patents were issued, about 1550. By 1625 it began to be customary to issue patents protecting the rights of inventors in the arts and manufactures. Since that time the people of the various "patent offices" of the world have had a steady increasing business. New York American.

Dumas and a Dog.
Dumas was designing to be in the fashion during the spring season, purchased a fine dog at an equally high price. The next day he set out on a walk in the suburbs of Paris. A partridge man and Dumas' dog, walking in it fell about 100 feet away. Away went the dog but simply gave the bird the coup de grace. Dumas, enraged, took the ramrod of the gun to whip the dog. The dog took the ramrod between his teeth, rose on his hind legs and began to dance a polka. The famous author then perceived that the dog had not been trained to retrieve. His fame had been made to a climax. Heaps of money were offered him and he gave him the first cent he had.

Rheumatism in Pigeons.
Until I kept a cock I never realized the thousand natural shocks a pigeon is heir to. Among the most fashionable of these is rheumatism. If they sleep near an open window or in a draft it is pretty sure to develop, frequently to the form of wing disease. The slow point is the part most affected, probably on account of being the most exposed and liable to being chilled. The same symptom is a lump on the wing and feathers. A bird so affected should be placed alone in a pen and fed plain food. Pluck the feathers around the affected joint and put the swelling with fracture of the bone and it will gradually disappear. PRIDE.
I have been more and more convinced the more I think of it that, in general, pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes. All the other passions do occasional good, but whenever pride puts in its word everything goes wrong, and what might really be desirable to do, quickly and unobscured, is a morally dangerous to do proudly.—Rush.

A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at last try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is, it would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says:

Richmond, Mo.—"When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a helpless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration. I was in bed for ten weeks, had sinking spells, and was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever. My friends hardly recognized me so great was the change."—Mrs. Woodson Branstetter, Richmond, Mo.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what another woman says:—

Jonesboro, Texas.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial."—Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ill. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

DAIRY

BUYING DAIRY ANIMALS.

Cheap Price Means Cheap Cow—Good Ones Will Return Money In Short Time.

The high price of good cows is causing a wonderful stride in the dairy business, and it looks as though it would always continue so. During the present season there will be a good many Jersey and Holstein sales, and a great many new herds will be started as well as the old ones increased.

Those who are just starting a herd should be very careful, and when they go to a public sale do so with a cool head and a determination to buy only the good ones. In all sales there are a few cows that probably should not have been there, and the man who goes to a sale without a fixed purpose in view other than to buy something because it is cheap generally gets these cows.

If one makes a practice of always buying cheap he will have a cheap herd and therefore sell cheap. You are going to start out to buy a herd and have only limited capital. Instead of doing like so many men who have started and bought cheap ones, buy good ones or none at all. If you have enough money to buy four good cows or eight or ten common ordinary cows, buy the four good ones.

Suppose the good cows cost from $100 to $150; if they were what they should be at that price, they are cheaper than the $50 or $75 kind as a rule. You are buying a cow that you expect to sell the milk and butter from for several years besides, you will want to save the calves, get a herd bull or, if heifers, they will be in all likelihood as good as the dam; consequently you get them for nothing, for they will pay for themselves in two or three years and much quicker than the cheaper ones will.

Before you are aware of it you have a first class herd of cows. Then, if you should want to sell and go out of business, there will be no trouble to dispose of them at good prices, because you have the reputation of always buying good ones, and the herd has the reputation of being a producing herd, and that's the kind that is in the greatest demand all the time.

Go to a sale where there are some imported cows for sale and buy one. If that is as much as you can stand, and if she is a good one and bred to a bull noted for his producing qualities, you will be surprised how easy it will be to sell the calves from such a cow. If you are holding up a herd you cannot afford to sell the calves. Keep the best and breed them and you can sell good ones.

Buy a bull with blood of the best running through his veins, one that has the blood of producers and that will grow up and add reputation to the herd. Get a good one. If he does not more than you intended to pay. He is the one your neighbors will pay you for for breeding services.

One should not think that cows are going to get cheap in a year or two and they will have to be glad to get them. They may get even cheaper. A good cow will always fetch a high price, and when she is offered for sale there is a long line of buyers and she is snapped up.

Attend the sales and pick out cows that suit and bid on them until they are either yours or you have made the other fellow pay all they are worth.

Add Cream to Cottage Cheese.

Adding cream greatly improves the flavor of cottage cheese, and also makes it more palatable. A pound of cream added to five pounds of cottage cheese makes a delicious cream cheese. The cream should be added to the cheese when it is still warm, and stirred thoroughly.

Makeup Skimmed Butterfat.

When the skimmed butterfat is separated from the milk it is at the rate of one gallon to ten pounds of skimmed milk. A fat content of 10 percent is considered a good one. The butterfat should be added to the milk when it is still warm, and stirred thoroughly.
